

The approach is that whenever the lift comes to a floor where a button is pressed in the direction it is going or if there are people inside it who want to go to that floor than it will open at that floor otherwise it will keep going in the direction it is going.